

Through a series of training modules and practical exercises, the Surveillance Detection and Instinctive Driving (SDID) course teaches students instinctive as well as defensive and evasive driving techniques.

Overview

The Surveillance Detection and Instinctive Driving (SDID) course is designed to equip drivers with the skills required to maintain a high level of security awareness in order to progress safely through challenging and hazardous situations.

Syllabus

Instinctive driving:

- Situation awareness
- Travel Pattern Analysis
- Surveillance Detection
- Area of predictable travel exercise
- Instinctive driving practical skills
- Emergency situation drills
- Accident management
- Vehicle dynamics
- Progressive driving
- High speed practical skills

Defensive and evasive driving:

- Driving the system of vehicle control
- Commentary driving
- RTA medical response
- Hard reverse turns
- Ramming techniques
- Close proximity driving
- Rolling slalom
- Threat scenarios

Staff and facilities

The course is conducted over a two day period at our training facility in Pershore, Worcestershire and is accredited by Skills for Security. Our team of highly experienced instructors is made up of former UK special forces and police personnel who have recognised civilian teaching qualifications as well as recent operational experience.

Course fees and dates

Available on request.

Our background

G4S Risk Management is the leader in providing risk mitigation, secure support services and integrated solutions to governments, international agencies, small to medium enterprises and multi-national corporations, wherever they may operate.

Accreditation

